Industrial Council Dinner Meeting Saturday, June 27

Any citizen of this community interested in the prosperity of the great area of Michigan that this community is part of is invited to attend the summer membership meeting of the Northwest Michigan Industrial Development Council.

It will be a dinner meeting at the Belvedere Hotel at Charlevoix at 7:00 p. m., Saturday, June 27.

The invitation comes from Ward Stubbs, Frankfort banker who is president of the Council.

Progress made during the past year in building up the region's payrolls will be reviewed and plans laid for building them up still more in the coming year.

The meeting will kick off the Council's program for finding industrial prospects among the tourists and resorters who spend some time in the region or just drive through during July and August.

Mr. Stubbs reports that one community in the area has just signed a new industry from another state that will employ 100 people following nearly two years work with a prospect the community first contacted as part of this tourist-screening program in the summer of 1951. That was the year the Michigan Economic Development Department originated the program. The Northwest Council was the first area organization to adopt the program and the community that has just acquired this new industry was one of the first towns in the state to get into the program. This particular prospect was uncovered by the chamber of commerce secretary in a systematic canvas of summer home owners for manufacturers thinking of relocating or expanding their plants. Interestingly, this manufacturer who has now bought property to move part of his plant from a nearby state was one of the community's newest summer home owners and almost a complete stranger to the area at the time the chamber of commeree secretary contacted him. He does not expect to announce his move until machinery is set up in his new location.

Complete program for the June 27 meeting will be announced after a meeting of the Council officers to be held in a few days.

Tickets for the dinner cost $2.85, which includes tip, and reservations should be sent to S. E. Coleman, secretary of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce.

The Northwest Michigan Industrial Development Council covers 10 counties and is governed by a board of directors consisting of two business leaders from each.

Counties in the Council are: Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Benzie, Manistee, Wexford and Missaukee.

Pair Attending Aquatic School

Kay Melin of Boyne City and Stewart Walker of Charlevoix left Sunday to attend the 10-day Red Cross Aquatic School at Whitehall.

The pair is attending the camp under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix county Red Cross chapter and will return to work as life guards in their respective communities.

East Jordan and Walloon Lake do not have candidates attending the school this year although the Charlevoix county Red Cross chapter voted to send four candidates from the county if the communities should choose to do so.

Rev. Thompson Returned Here Another Year

The Fifty-sixth Annual Conference of the United Missionary Church convened at the denominational camp grounds near Brown City, June 8, 1953 with Rev. M. J. Burgess, Conference Chairman, presiding.

The Conference expressed sympathy to the victims of the tornado disaster and voted funds for relief work. Also, there was recognition given to the re-emphasis of spiritual values by President Eisenhower and a resolution sent to him expressing the appreciation of the Conference. The Michigan Conference has embarked this year upon a program of advancement and expansion, under the slogan "One Thousand More in Fifty-Four."

The following men were ordained this year to the Christain Ministry: Rev. R. Detwiler of Elkton, Rev. G. G. Waun of Petoskey, Rev. C. W. Thompson of East Jordan and Rev. M. S. Krake of Bad Axe.

Trout Studies

During recent years, conservation department fisheries workers have been actively engaged in trout population studies on certain streams of the state. Here, two men are censusing Hunt Creek, one of the special streams being used in the continuous study. Trout are easily captured after being momentarily stunned by means of an electrical "shocker." After being weighed and measured, the fish are released where taken. Information gained from such studies helps develop better fishing in Michigan.

Cocoanut trees do not bear fruit until they are eight years old, but produce for 80 years.

There is no greater sorrow than to recall, in misery, the time when we were happy. —Dante

There was a little Dachshund once
So long he had no notion
How long it took to notify
His tail of his emotion.
And so it was, that when his eyes
Were filled with woe and sadness,
His little tail kept wagging on
Because of previous gladness.

110 Registrants Wanted for Blood Procurement Program in East Jordan, Wed., July 1

Wanted: 110 registrants between the ages of 18 and 60 years for the annual Blood Procurement program to be held in East Jordan, Wednesday, July 1, is the plea issued this week by Mrs. Theodore Malpass, local chairman for the clinic being conducted later this month and early in July through the cooperation of the Michigan Health Department, local members of the Northern Michigan Medical Society and the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross.

The blood bank in East Jordan will be set up in the former Consumer Power building just south of the Temple Theater. Hours will be 3:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. continuously, Wednesday, July 1.

The quota for the three-day clinic in Charlevoix county has been set at 260—pints of blood. State Health Department officials recommended that each participating community have at least 110 registrants in order to obtain the quota.

Local doctors will participate in the blood procurement for the first time, assisted by Health Department nurses and technicians and local volunteer nurses.

The urgent need for plasma in emergencies was demonstrated last week following the devastating Flint tornado when hundreds of injured persons were given countless pints of blood plasma to supplement the supply of whole blood. This emergency plus the earlier tornado at Port Huron and those in other Michigan communities in recent weeks has done much to deplete the existing supply of plasma in the state.

Many persons have asked why the whole blood donated during these blood procurement clinics cannot be made available at hospitals frequented by Charlevoix county residents. The chief reason is that whole blood is perishable and can be stored for only a limited period while plasma and its derivaties processed from whole blood can be stored indefinitely.

Fifty percent of the blood donated June 29-30 and July 1 in this county will be forwarded to the military by the State Health Department for use in hospitals in Korea and Japan for although there is talk of peace the wounded still need the life saving whole blood.

The remaining 50 percent or 130 pints will be processed into plasma, gamma globulin used to prevent or modify measles and polio; antihemophilic globulin used to save the lives of bleeders and normal serum albumin which is used to treat diseases of the kidney and liver.

All of these products are processed, put into containers, packaged and tested by the State Health Department and then made available to all residents of this county through their attending physicians anyplace in the state.

Local doctors join with the Michigan Health Department in urging that residents of this community volunteer now so that sufficient plasma and fractions will be available to Charlevoix county residents during the next year.

In East Jordan call Mrs. Malpass for further information regarding the program.

The Dropped Gauntlet

BY ED LEHRBASS

The opinions expressed by Ed Lehrbass in this column are not to be construed necessarily, nor even probably as those of The Herald. They are only those of an experienced and responsible commentator.

Most of you by now have heard some story or other out of the tornado stricken areas. Some I've heard recalled the peculiar actions which take place at such times. But some of the stories were mighty gruesome.

With all the pros and all the cons about the Mackinaw bridge situation, I read by the papers that work is expected to begin this summer. As you read here before, the question of whether you'll get something or not, that's a public project mind you, is to have the right people against it.

In to see Hugh Gidley this past Saturday night. If that isn't a beautiful store front and a very well done and well arranged interior, I've never seen one. And a lot of folks appreciate it. Sitting in the car, instead of that rocking chair that I was goin' to, had Hugh painted the store front a certain color, I watched many folks just stop and look.

A story out of Mancelona. As told to me by one of my readers that found it necessary to be in our town and over there of a Saturday night. He said that the new night cop in Mancelona gives out tickets for just breathing. Also he said the town looked like he'd scared everyone away, for there was no business to speak of that would be a usual Mancelona, Saturday night. While our town looked like everyone had come. Guess this is the time to give Joe Wilkens a pat on the back. 'Cause no one seemed scairt in our town and there's been a lot of little stories circulated.

This week all seems quiet on the road front. With all that money to spend I'll bet the road commission is setting back in their rocking chairs and telling among themselves, "We'll show that Ed Lehrbass that we know how to build roads." Hmmmmmm.

Another incident that gives me a chuckle. There's one man in our town, a former nodding acquaintance of mine, that evidently don't like it that I'm working for the Herald. The first two times that I passed and raised my hand in greeting, he looked straight ahead. I thought perhaps it was just one of those things. But when the third time came up and he looked straight ahead avoiding the necessity of a greeting, I knew I'd hit pay dirt. More on this another time.

A fellow told me, "Ed, there's a lot of us folks that read what you write. Sure we don't rush up with 'Hurrays', cause as you said some things takes time. But I get around to a lot of Herald readers in a month and they know exactly what's going on. And as you mentioned about electin' Ike, it was the will of the people, well you watch the will of the people hereabouts. They're slow sometime in taking their action, but when they do I'll bet certain folks'll know it."

To this I say thanks. As so many of my incident tellers ask me not to mention their names, so has this one.

Navy's Fury in the Skies

The Navy North American FJ-2 "Fury", a sweptwing carrier-based jet fighter, is now in production for the Fleet. Embodying the latest developments in both land and carrier aviation, the "Fury" is armed with four 20 mm. cannon, and its General Electric jets can push it well over 45,000 feet at more than 650 miles per hour. With a range over the Navy required 1000 miles, the "Fury" is another of the Navy's outstanding aviation developments. With planes from the Air Force, Marines, and Army, the Navy's aviation components will be shown to the public at the 1953 International Aviation Exposition at Detroit-Wayne Airport on July 9-12, in celebration of the 50th Year of Powered Flight.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

By Ed Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

Farmers from Charlevoix county, Ed Rebman, County Agriculture agent said today, will attend the Grass Day on Wednesday, June 24th in Kalkaska county. I will start at 9:30 a.m. and will be at the Jenkins Brothers Farm, located 2 miles south of Kalkaska on road 66 and two miles east.

Seeding, fertilizing and management practices will be stressed during morning tours and there also will be discussions and inspections of emergency pasture, special crops and silage. Insect and disease and weed control will be other features. A special feature will be a demonstration on liquid nitrogen and also the erection of an up-right silo.

Farm equipment displays and machinery operation will be very worthwhile for farmers to see, points out Robert G. White, Michigan State College extension specialist in agriculture engineering. Mr. White, member of the M. S. C. Grass Days Committee, has been contracting the various farm equipment companies and expects a good turnout. An interesting feature, he notes, will be a wagon complete with cross-conveyor unloader-"all automatic, just turn on the power take-off and go sit under a tree."

White expects most machine units to make the tour of all seven Grass Day locations and lists those slated for field demonstration as balers, haycrushers, field choppers-both from the swath and direct, with cutter bar, wagon unloaders and blowers.

Don't cut the foliage of tulips, hyacinths, lilies or other hardy bulbs until it turns yellow.

That's a tip from Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. He explains that cutting the foliage of bulbous plants too early injures the bulb and lessens the chance of flowering the next year.

County Agent Rebman also passes along these other tips from C. E. Wildon, Michigan State College horticulturist:

Don't cut the green foliage from German iris unless you are digging for transplanting. Digging and transplanting iris should be done between Aug. 1 and 15.

Wait until August, too, for transplanting oriental poppies.

Spray or dust your roses for control of mildew and black spot. Do it often to keep the foliage covered throughout the season. A dust containing fermate, sulfur, DDT and rotenone should be used.

Don't let the delphiniums go to seed after flowering unless you want seed. Cut the delphinium stalks back to the basal leaves. New growth will start and give you a second crop of flowers. Don't fail to water them during dry spells.

Don't let Sweet William go to seed if you want it to survive the winter.

NEW BOAT SAFETY LAWS

Michigan's new boat-safety regulations are attracting nation-wide attention. Henceforth every one of the many thousands of boats rented to the public must measure up to rigid specifications set up by the Michigan Waterways Commission. Regulations are going to be enforced, and inspections made by local sheriff departments throughout the State. It's a big job, and one that is bound to result in some confusion before successful application on a widespread basis.

Specifications Detailed

The capacity of any given boat is determined by a well defined formula in which the length, width and depth of the craft are deciding factors. Once this passenger capacity is determined, a metal tag affixed in plain sight, will state how many people may be aboard. A child, regardless of age, is classed as a "person" in this specification.

Each boat will carry a stenciled emblem on the side marking the waterline. If this stencil is submerged the boat is overloaded.

Oarlocks must be attached to oars, and oars must be fastened to the boat proper by a length of line or chain—a regulation which will prevent the loss of an oar when such a loss might mean the difference between life and death.

Planking thruout the craft must be sound. The inspector will check this with the sharp point of a knife to detect any possible weakness. Life preservers must be supplied for every passenger.

Costly Law

On the surface our new safety regulations look costly—both from an enforcement standpoint, and from the viewpoint of the boat livery operator. Many rickety old boats once rented by irresponsible liveries must be junked. But, in the long run all concerned should welcome the new set of rules. Livery operators will be required to pay 50c per boat for the tag of approval following inspection, and as a result slightly higher rental prices can be expected throughout the state. While this may seem to be overburdening a public already reeling from the high cost of everything, it's a small price to pay for a life saved—a life that might be yours or mine.

Furthermore the regulations will make good ammunition for tourist advertising in Michigan, where the importance of the tourist dollar cannot be over-estimated—an "industry" second only to the automobile business in cash value.

More safety afloat is sure to reflect favorably on the future of Michigan Outdoors.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Heard About the Electric Weather Predictor?

Squint Smith built up quite a reputation last month by predicting the weather. What he said usually came true.

It got so that folks would sit around his little Antique Shop just to get his opinion.

Last Monday, though, he said he didn't know what the weather was going to be like next day. That surprised us and when we asked what happened, Squint said, "Slipped up on my electric bill and was turned off. I'll get to my radio again tomorrow though." Squint had been getting the weather over the radio—just like anyone else!

From where I sit, that's the way it goes with some "experts." They often don't have any more inside information than you can get for yourself. Like those who "know" cider is the only thirst-quencher after a day's work. Far as I'm concerned, I'll take a temperate glass of beer. But—I won't try to "predict" your choice for you.

Frank Severance 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Severance is thot to be drowned near Holy Island. He was visiting at the Freiberg cottage, Sunday noon and about 1:30 left with his motor boat during a lull in the storm.

He told Mr. Freiberg he entended to visit some friends at the Crosby landing then return to East Jordan.

Quite often Mr. Severance had stayed out over night with friends so his absence was not considered by his relatives until Monday noon when attempts were made to locate him. That afternoon the boat was discovered partially swamped and standing on end by the weight of the engine, and off the spiles near Crosby point opposite Holy Island. The boat was also seen in the above position about a mile off shore, Sunday afternoon. Just what was the cause of the accident will probably be never known.

Tourist Park News

As the tourist season opens, and one by one the trailers will be rolling into the park, some who have been coming for many years, and others perhaps for their first time, and the many who stop by perhaps for a picnic or just to relax. Whatever the occasion, we feel sure that East Jordan and the park commission and the caretakers, too, will feel a great deal of pride in the appearance and 'new look' that the park has taken on. Never before have we seen it look so clean and inviting. It really tells of hard work and planning. We understand 'they' are not through yet either, more brush to be cleaned out, more ground made available for mobil-homes, the laundry room and the restrooms are to be painted, lattice work to be installed in front of the doors, shuffleboard courts to have more work done on them and several other things as time and money provide. We do appreciate all these things that go to help make our stay here more pleasant. We are proud, too, to see the East Jordan Park is displaying a TCMA sign, showing it has been approved by the State, the only one north of Traverse City.

Saturday seemed to really start folks thinking about picnics, etc., as several out-of-towners stopped by to make use of the kitchens and tables. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coleman and grandsons, Conrad and Joey, of Elsie, Mich. They have been vacationing in the upper peninsula and were passing through on their way home.

Another group of picnicers Saturday noon were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Benz of Cleveland, Ohio, and their three sons, Bruce, Ronald and Don. We may know this family better in the future as they are so enthused with this northern Michigan country that they are looking at property south of the city to purchase.

Sunday brought out many more to the park, loaded with picnic baskets and all that goes with them. One of the first groups to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. John Dhaseleer and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dhaseleer and children of Charlevoix; also Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mosher of East Jordan.

Another group having a picnic dinner on the outdoor tables were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davidson and Glenny Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davidson, Traverse City; also Mrs. Oscar McCoy of Indianapolis, Ind., a sister of Mrs. Albert Davidson.

Further on down the long line of tables another group were holding their family picnic dinner. These consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gregory with son and twin daughters and Mrs. Alva Gregory, all of Bellaire.

Saturday evening the Class of '32 held their reunion in the recreation building. Not as large an attendance as last year, but by all appearances just as good a time. Fifteen members with their families were present.

One of our regular summer visitors will not be with us this year. Mr. Cassimer Richards of Flint passed away ths winter at Tampa, Fla. Mrs. Richards has been in very poor health for two years and Mr. Richards cared for her constantly. He will be remembered to the ones around here as "the man with the dog and the record player." He has entertained the park folks and young people many times with his music and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Winkle and two ltle sons attended a reunion over the week end at Pigeon, Mich.

We have lost three of our trailers this week. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beuker returned to their home in Traverse City. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill, whose home is in Tacoma, Wash., left Monday via the northern route. They plan to be about a month returning to their home. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Voss of Lima, Ohio, left Tuesday morning after a week's stay in our park. They will go to Lake Superior in Canada where then plan to join their son and family, also from Ohio, and do some trout fishing.

Another trailer home came in Sunday. It is Len M. Bod of Lansing and a co-worker of his. They are with the R. E. A. and are checking boxes in this area.

Tuesday evening one of the largest gatherings so far this year was held in the recreation building. Several families from Ellsworth and the surrounding territory gathered to welcome a new family and bid farewell to another who is moving away.

It is very important to work out air bubbles in jars filled with fruit or vegetables and ready for sealing. Work the blade of a table knife to remove the bubbles, recommend Michigan State College home economists. Add more liquid if needed to cover the food, leaving the necessary air space at top of jar.

SEA LAMPREY CRISIS

The Congress of the United States is apparently working in the interests of conservation with a reverse twist. Those mystifying legislators may actually, tho unconsciously, help the perpetuation of the dreaded sea lamprey in the Great Lakes. They have just cut the operating budget for the control project from a needed $614,000 to $104,000, leaving barely enough to keep a skeleton organization going, and nothing at all for the construction of sorely needed new lamprey control devices.

Spawning Run Now On

In hundreds of clear, cold streams emptying into the Great Lakes—most of them in Michigan—the blood-sucking sea lamprey is now making its annual spawning run. The adult male and female, having fed and fattened on our finest Great Lakes fish for the past single year of their mature life, move far upstream to a carefully selected gravel-bottomed section of the river where they will spawn and die, their life cycle completed. Thousands of tiny lamprey will hatch, squirm deep into the mud along the river banks remaining buried there for four years of immature life as larvae. They'll grow about 5" in that time, and will then drift down into the Great Lakes for a one-year feeding spree, attaching themselves to fish, grinding thru scales and skin, and sucking away the blood of life.

Trout Exterminated

The sea lamprey is held responsible for the disappearance of the lake trout in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan—an economic loss placed at more than three million dollars annually. Whitefish, too, are disappearing, not to mention the once-prevalent walleye pike, steelhead trout, and other species. Despite the positive evidence that the blame for the rapid decline of our commercial fisheries can be placed on the sea lamprey, those in control of our national budget refuse to allocate funds desperately needed to help exterminate this predator. Our U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has made rapid strides toward striking at the lamprey at the one point where they are vulnerable: during the spawning run.

Electric fences stretched across spawning streams effectively block the run, and the lampreys die in a futile effort to spawn. Now, with virtually all spawning streams identified, and all plans ready for the final strategy of fencing the waters to block lamprey while permitting the runs of valuable fish, the federal government refuses necessary funds.

Write Your Congressman!

You and I may be able to help in this crisis affecting every kind of fishing in Michigan. Sit down and write your Congressman. If you don't know his name write Senator Ferguson or Potter. Ask for emergency funds to beat the Sea Lamprey in the Great Lakes before this terrifying vampire takes over our inland waters, destroying sports fishing in the Michigan Outdoors we love so well.

Irrigation Pump Can Fight Fires

Irrigation has proven a profitable practice for many farmers. It has an added advantage when irrigating equipment is arranged so that it can also be used for fire protection.

Emmet Cabaniss of Maxeys, Georgia, has his equipment set up so that if a fire breaks out, he can be pumping 1200 gallons of water per minute within ten minutes. His 300-acre farm has five man-made lakes, one near his buildings. He uses 1600 feet of six-inch pipe line. His pump and power unit are mounted on a trailer for quick transportation.

The equipment not only protects him against fire, but also against drought. He improved the system last fall by repowering the pump with a 4-cylinder General Motors Diesel engine. Extra power of the Diesel permitted him to switch from an 800-foot line to the 1600-foot line. Although the new engine pumps 50% more water than the gasoline engine he used previously—it costs no more to run.

Mr. Cabaniss now has 200 acres that can be irrigated by overhead sprinklers. He can put an inch of water over three acres every hour. He figures his irrigation system is rapidly paying for itself by preventing crop loss and increasing milk production of his 70 dairy cows.

PORCUPINES PICNIC

Porcupines at Hartwick Pines state park northeast of here have been picnicking on picnic tables recently placed in the park.

Park manager Leonard Jensen says he believes preservative used on the table planks tastes of salt, of which porcupines are particularly fond.

Jensen has distributed salt blocks to try and appease the bristly chewers.

You may can fruit without sweetening—in its own juice, in extracted juice, or in water, say Michigan State College nutritionists. Sugar helps fruit hold its shape, color and flavor, but it is not needed to prevent spoilage. Process unsweetened fruit the same way you do sweetened the M. S. C. specialists advise.

Cows Feed Selves In This Hay Barn

Many hours of valuable farm labor are saved when cows feed themselves from a building where hay is dried and stored.

Dairy operations in which cows feed themselves hay from a building where it has been stored and then cured offer a means of saving many valuable hours of farm labor, says S. B. Cleland, University of Minnesota Extension Service farm management specialist.

Cleland, writing in the Quonset Farmstead News June issue, reports that such a system is operating successfully at the State Reformatory farm at St. Cloud and that a similar arrangement has just been built on the Washington County farm of Joseph Kargel and Son.

The hay feeding, storage and curing building is one unit of a loose-housing system that uses two other Quonsets, one for bedding area and another for the milking parlor and milk room.

"The hay building is 40' wide, 100' long," Cleland says. "It has a concrete floor and open ends. A fan and motor housed on the side of the building forces air through drying tunnels which rest on the floor with hay on top of them.

"The hay is cut at its top quality period, partially dried in the sun, chopped and handled by a field forage harvester and mow-cured by unheated air after it's put in the building."

Movable racks through which the cattle feed are placed at each end of the barn.

Cleland writes that the cows do the rest. "They eat and push, and as they push toward more hay the racks slide along the floor toward the center of the barn. The cows eat their way through the bar, providing more and more shelter for themselves as winter wears on."

SAVING GREAT IN MADE-OVER DUDS FOR THE KIDS

Look at some of those out-dated clothes in your closet with an eye to making them over for children, or grandchildren, suggests Lola Belle Green, clothing specialist at Michigan State College. Outdated clothes can be made attractive and they're a big money saver.

Consider the material in an old garment first, she advises. Is it suitable for the child in color, texture and design? As a general rule firm, closely-woven fabrics that are light in weight and soft to the touch are best for a child's clothing needs. Gay colors are much better than drab or harsh shades that adults sometimes wear (and shouldn't).

Check on the present condition of the old garment. Sometimes the old article is so worn it would not be practical to remake it for a child.

Miss. Green recommends making the new garment along the lines of the old one if possible. A small boy's trousers can easily be cut from a pair of men's trousers, but you will have more of a problem cutting trousers from a woman's gored skirt.

Get a good, standard pattern for your make-overs, recommends Miss. Green. And remember, children's patterns should be selected by chest measurement, rather than by age. Rip the old garment apart completely using scissors or a razor blade. Wash the material, but before that stitch around the edges of the garment pieces to prevent fraying or stretching. Use matching thread and stitch not more than one-fourth inch from the edge of the material. This stitching remains in the material in the construction of the garment.

"Michigan has a 'one disaster' police force."

These are the words of State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, an amiable man whose appearance resembles President Eisenhower.

It is Child's task to direct operations of the Michigan State Police Department. He reached his conclusion about the department's limitation a few days after the Flint tornado—a disaster which required all troopers available. Fact: 142 officers, more than twice the usual number, were in the Upper Peninsula pursing the last of seven escaped convicts.

Difficulties experienced during these two emergencies in two peninsulas are responsible for some concern by several state officials and many citizens.

Michigan's present authorized police strength is 678. Only 670 are now in uniform. In addition the department employs about 217 civilians at district posts and at state headquarters in East Lansing. The latter group includes radio operators mechanics, clerks, custodians and secretarial workers. Commissioner Childs admits that 678 sounds like a big number until the figure is analyzed. "Remember," he said, "there are 24 hours each day when state police are on duty." Central headquarters requires 67 men, mostly specialists. They include fire, racket, training, fingerprint laboratory experts and administration officers.

"Not one car was on patrol in the Lower Peninsula the days following the Flint tornado," said the chief police official. "And only two or three men were left at each post."

"Our present force," says Commissioner Childs, "is not sufficient to give the service we would like to give."

Michigan police department has not kept pace with the growth of the state's population in the past 10 years. There are 57,022 square miles of land in the state with 107,000 miles of road to be covered. An average of 64 million miles are driven daily by there million drivers in two and a half million vehicles. The total is much larger on week ends and holidays. And the total is much, much higher than it was in previous years.

"We need about 1,250 men on the state police force," estimated Commissioner Childs.

This is an aim to be hoped for over a period of years. The only way for this increase to come about, he added, is by a realization on the part of the public that the increase is badly needed. Funds for the state police department are appropriated each year by the Legislature. "The Legislature understands our problems," said the Commissioner, "but they have been unable to increase our funds materially because of the financial problems which still exist."

"Esprit de corps is high among police officers," said the Commissioner. "We have a very low turnover of men."

This surprises many people who consider salary schedules and working conditions for state police officers. Beginning patrolmen are paid $229 per month. Pay is increased to $250 when training is completed; stepped up over the next five years to $350. It usually takes 10 years before the next promotion. Uniforms are furnished; $3 per day is allowed for expenses.

Average work day is 9.3 hours; eight of patrol, the rest for routine reports. Officers are subject to emergency call 24 hours each six days a week and must register their whereabouts during off duty periods. They are sometimes called back from the seventh, their "off" day; if they can be located.

Vacations and passes were cancelled when the Flint disaster hit. Men there and in the U.P. worked a seven day week 14 hours a day. For this they receive no extra pay. State police officers get 12 days a year vacation plus eight more to make up for usual holidays, when they work extra long and hard.

When an emergency strikes, a pre-arranged plan can take effect. Squads of seven men and one non-commisioned officer move into an area. Working alone or in teams of two to four, and with three way radio communication, they tackle their problem.

In Flint the department's communication system permitted officers to play an important part coordinating efforts of the many agencies that responded to the disaster.

Compared with other states, Michigan's police department seems average in size. Some, like Pennsylvania with 1,800 officers, have larger forces; other states departments concern themselves only with highway problems.

Michigan's patrolmen however, deal with everything from trespassing to murder. Its policemen must be experts in many fields.

Officers are trained to decide whether a ticket or a warning will bring the best result. Records show a growing number of traffic arrests; 137% more than in 1940; about 72,000 in 1952.

"An increasing need for a bigger state police force will be felt as the rapid development of non-metropolitan areas continues," said the Commissioner. "About 71% of state traffic deaths occurred in rural areas last year-the highest percentage on record."

When the Legislature is able to increase the size of the state police department, people of Michigan will get the quality of police service they need.

ENGINEERS AT M. S. C. 'SPEED UP' CONCRETE

A new process which speeds up the hardening and strengthening period of concrete by as much as 60 percent has been developed by two Michigan State College engineers.

The discovery at M. S. C.'s Engineering Experiment Station is expected to be highly useful in construction of main highways, bridges, city streets and large buildings where it is desirable for concrete to gain strength as rapidly as possible.

The research project was conducted by R. J. Claus and J. T. McCall, assistant professors of engineering at M. S. C. under sponsorship of the Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Mich. Results showed the "speed-up" takes place if a newly-developed pellet shaped form of calcium chloride is added to Portland cement during mixing.

"The familiar flake form of calcium chloride has been used as a strength accelerator in Portland cement concrete for about 50 years", the two engineers said. "The new anhydrous pellet is a better accelerator, however, since it results in increasing the strengthening process when compared to concrete containing flake chloride."

Concrete ordinarily hardens in about two to ten hours and gains strength gradually thereafter, reaching its design strength in about 28 days. The new pellet form of calcium chloride was found to boost this process as much as 60 percent on the third day after the concrete was poured.

The Servicemens' LETTER

Hi Fellas:

The following release dated May 27, 1953, was sent from Korea: With the 25th Infantry Div. in Korea — Pvt. Frederick H. Looze, son of Perry and Frances Looze of Route 2, East Jordan, Michigan, recently arrived in Korea for duty with the 25th Infantry Division.

Pvt. Looze entered the Army in November 1952 and was stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., before arriving overseas.

A former student of East Jordan High School, he was a drafting clerk for the Consumer Power Co. in civilian life.

Now receiving intensive field training, the 25thh Infantry Division is part of the security forces for the Japanese Islands. The 25th fought in Korea for 19 months before being relieved in early 1952.

A|2c Walter Moblo writes from Austin, Texas, "I am stationed with the 27th Fighters Escort Sqdn at Austin, Texas. Our group has just returned home from overseas, but will be going back around the first of the year."

'Would sure be nice to be home again. The paper is lots of company and helps to know what's going on. Thanks so much for sending it, I sure appreciate it." Walt's address is Montopolis Rural Station, Austin, Texas.

A|3c Loren B. Willson, AF 164 31 690, has a new address: 3462 Student Sqdn, Francis E. Warren AFB, Wyoming.

A|3b Carl Jr. Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Decker of East Jordan, Michigan, has entered the Airplane and Mechanics School at Amarillo Air Force Base, Amarillo, Texas.

Airman Decker is a student from Central Lake High School. Prior to entering the Air Force, he was working in Detroit. Carl's address is AF16d 31 262, 3339 Student Sqdn, Amarillo AFB, Texas.

Congratulations are in order this week to Bud Cummins. He was married Thursday to Jeanine Olstrom. I'm sure many of you will remember that he has had her on his mind for several years, about seven of them. They plan on leaving East Jordan around the 23rd so that he can report back to Little Creek, Va. by July 2. If things go the way he thinks they will, Bud will be out of the Navy around the 1st of the year. He then would like to go to school but hasn't made any definite plans.

Bob Anderson is also home on leave until the last part of the month. He will report back to California the 2nd of July but I believe he will still be thinking of East Jordan. Bob brought up a couple of interesting facts today about Mexico—cars and motorcycles are considered lethal weapons and second, instead of giving you a ticket for parking (or should I say illegal or over parking) they take your license plate. It was really interesting talking to Bob and Bud and would like to wish them luck in all they undertake. I also appreciate them taking the time to come out when I know they have so many things they would like to do in the short time they have home.

"I took the usual basic infantry training of eight weeks and was supposed to take another eight weeks of Anti-Aircraft Artillery training—instead I had the chance to take a job in Headquarters as clerk-typist (MOS No. 4405). I jumped at the chance and am now sitting behind a desk in the Pay and Allowance Office. This is 100 percent better than being out training in this hot (and I do mean hot) Texas sun.

'I read in the East Jordan paper that Larry Whiteford was here but was surprised to find out that Bill Anderson is stationed at Biggs AFB, only a few miles from Ft. Bliss. We get together quite often and take in the sights of El Paso or go across the Rio Grande into Juarez, Mexico.'

'I want to thank you for the paper which I received steadily until a week or two ago. I guess I had better give you my new address. It is as follows: Pvt. Eugene R. Pearce, RA 164 30 960, Hq and Hq Btry, AAA RTC, Fort Bliss, Texas."

There is one promotion to report this week — Donald E. Braman, SK3. Nice going, Don—and how about writing when you have a chance. The rest of Don's address is as follows: S15-53 A, U. S. Naval Schools, Supply, U. S. Naval Station, Newport, R. I.

Thanks for the letters this week and keep them coming.

Yours truly, Betty Jo Strehl
